

Be informed about Climate Change, be prepared

Each school ought to offer a safe environment; elimination of risk factors and prevention strategies will guarantee democratic and equal education. Preparation, readiness and education of the general population and society are important so that every citizen will know how to react in order to protect themselves and all those around them. A group of students in each school will be trained in first aid and protection measures and techniques during an earthquake, floods and wildfires by volunteers, with the aim of creating a crisis management team within the school. Special care will be taken to raise awareness on Safeguarding Cultural Heritage from Natural and Man - Made Disasters.
